The Rover Coffee Table appears to hover off the floor; its low and substantial profile supported by inset, block legs. Continuing our exploration of solid timber joinery, the result is a veneer table top wrapped in a solid oak edge. The timber surround has a raised edge detail, drawing subtle attention to the sloped sides and smooth, curved corners.

Available in a range of timber finishes and sizes, with the option of contrasting gloss legs, or solid oak legs to match.

Made in New Zealand.
